FROM THE PRESIDENT & CEO

In July 2014, United Cerebral Palsy of Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties (UCPLA) began a year-long celebration of our 70th Anniversary. As I contemplate the true meaning of this milestone—seven decades of service—I think not only of the dedicated families who founded UCPLA, but also about the commitment of the staff and supporters who make our work possible today, and of the abilities and aspirations of the people we serve.

The organization that has evolved into UCPLA was founded in 1944 by a group of families seeking better services and a higher quality of life for their children with developmental disabilities. From that humble but devoted beginning, UCPLA evolved into the largest nonprofit direct care provider of services in Southern California for people with developmental disabilities. Each day, we serve over 1100 adults and children with cerebral palsy, Down syndrome, Autism Spectrum Disorders, and individuals with similar service needs. This substantial growth has been made possible through enduring support from the community, starting with that initial group of families and continuing today with our generous donors, our committed Board Members, and the families of those we serve.

Despite 70 years of our community rallying around our work and the ongoing responsible management that has helped sustain our longevity, community-based direct care organizations like UCPLA continue to grapple with the State on issues of sustainability. In many cases, State funding for our programs and services has not increased since the economic downturn of 2008. Coupled with the continually rising costs associated with providing the type of high-quality programming for which we are historically known, this fact has resulted in ongoing financial gaps that number in the millions of dollars each year.

As daunting as these funding gaps are, 70 years of experience have shown us that it is paramount that we maintain this standard of high-quality, dignified, whole-life care—because this is what the residents, scholars, artists and participants in our many programs deserve. With the growing number of children between the ages of three and 17 years being diagnosed with a developmental disability, it is also clear that the programs and services provided by UCPLA will be needed for future generations to ensure they too have access to a life of independence, productivity and full citizenship.

We enjoyed celebrating our 70 years of perfecting the art of care, and I look forward to learning what the next seven decades will bring. As we move forward with our mission to advance the independence, productivity and full citizenship of our lifelong learners, I would like to express our gratitude for the support of our dedicated donors, Board Members, families, participants, and community members, who have supported this work in innumerable ways. The celebration of this milestone belongs to all of us.

Sincerely,

Ronald S. Cohen, Ph.D.
President and Chief Executive Officer

FROM THE BOARD CHAIR

I take this opportunity to thank each and every member of our Board for their leadership, compassion and continued support in carrying out the mission of United Cerebral Palsy of Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties (UCPLA). Their dedication has helped to grow a caring, thriving community of achievers. The members of our board, and the family members of our program participants, could be the people Margaret Mead referred to when she said, “Never believe that a few caring people can’t change the world. For, indeed, that’s all who ever have.”

From July 2014 through June 2015, UCPLA celebrated our landmark 70th anniversary. Since 1944, UCPLA has been at the forefront of educating, advocating and communicating for the rights of individuals with developmental disabilities and their families. UCPLA would not be what it is today without these determined members of our community. When called upon to serve, our Board members enthusiastically give of their time, talents and finances; and in return their enthusiasm is matched with resolve of our residents, program participants and friends who show us each day the endless scope of their abilities.

UCPLA continues to face tough economic times ahead, and our board members’ involvement and commitment to UCPLA as never been more needed or welcomed. Together, with family and community support, we can give the gift of independence and ensure a life filled with purpose and dignity for all of the children and adults who rely on us every day. It is an honor and privilege to serve as your Chairman.

Sincerely,

Peter Devereaux
Chairman, Board of Directors
In 1944, a dedicated group of parents, frustrated with a lack of services available for their children with developmental disabilities, banded together to form the organization that would one day become United Cerebral Palsy of Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties (UCPLA).

In a modest house on 105th Street in Los Angeles, these parents, along with a committed cadre of volunteers, worked tirelessly to ensure that their children’s medical, physical and emotional needs were met and that these individuals with developmental disabilities were not only enabled but also encouraged to live fulfilling lives.

For the past 70 years, UCPLA has followed this model of providing high-quality, compassionate, community-based care that enables individuals with developmental disabilities and similar service needs to live as engaged, independent members of an inclusive community.

During Fiscal Year 2015, we were proud to celebrate seven decades of doing this work and perfecting the art of care for the 1100 individuals and their families who rely on our 40 programs and services each day. This yearlong celebration enabled us to honor staff members for their significant contributions, recognize the immense achievements of our clients, and reflect on the history of this special organization.

From the early telethons that engaged celebrity supporters to raise awareness and funding for UCPLA’s work to the dedicated students who spearheaded community-based fundraisers during this special year; from the opening of our signature Chatsworth group home in the 1970’s through the building of 11 accessible, independent living apartments that allow tenants to live within their community; and from that original group of parents to the more than 700 dedicated direct-support and administrative professionals we have on staff today, UCPLA is grateful that we have been able to spend the last 70 years growing, evolving and serving individuals with developmental disabilities.

We thank everyone who has been a part of our 70-year journey and our yearlong celebration. We look forward to the next chapter.

OUR PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS
COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Since its founding in 1944, UCPLA has been proud to be a community-based organization. One of our guiding principles is a commitment to advancing the independence, productivity and full citizenship of children and adults with developmental disabilities and those with similar service requirements. Following this community-based approach, we work to regularly connect our clients with members of our community to create opportunities for inclusion and integration.

Special Children’s League and Psi Delta Sigma
Almost since UCPLA’s inception, UCPLA’s auxiliary groups, including the Special Children’s League (SCL) and Psi Delta Sigma, have been dedicated to supporting our programs and our participants. During FY2015, they once again delivered on this cherished commitment, raising funds to support both our programs and our endowment.

The various committees of the Special Children’s League (SCL) stayed very busy organizing special events and campaigns. SCL’s Whittier Committee, for instance, continued the tradition of its popular Zingo luncheon and fundraiser at the Westridge Golf Club. This successful fundraiser, along with a well-attended Bunco Night, enabled SCL’s Whittier Committee to contribute $12,000 to support UCPLA’s programs and services, as well as a generous $1,000 donation to mark our 70th Anniversary.

The Special Children’s League of South Bay hosted another successful An Affair to Remember bazaar and luncheon, which featured a silent auction with luxury and artisanal goods provided by the members of SCL South Bay. Thanks in large part to the success of this popular fundraiser, the South Bay Committee of the Special Children’s League contributed more than $68,000 to UCPLA.

Special Children’s League’s Foothill Committee continued soliciting family and friends through their Angel Letters campaign, appealing to Angels and Potential Angels to pledge their support for UCPLA and earn an invisible halo. Angel Letters have raised thousands of dollars for UCPLA’s general fund and endowment fund, most recently raising nearly $17,000.

Fiscal Year 2015 was also a significant year for Psi Delta Sigma, which has four active chapters that organize a wide variety of events, including A Day at the Races, Beta Mu’s popular Spirit of Giving luncheon and fashion show, wine tastings and a comedy night. Through these combined activities, Psi Delta Sigma was able to present UCPLA with over $39,000.
COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Student Engagement
UCPLA’s commitment to lifelong learning makes us a natural match for local schools and students looking to make a positive impact on their communities. Fiscal Year 2015 was no exception, bringing local students and UCPLA’s program participants together to raise funds, build awareness and enjoy our community.

Fiscal Year 2015 began with a visit from students at Notre Dame High School to UCPLA’s Strathern Adult Day Programs. Students got the opportunity to meet and learn with UCPLA’s clients, and to speak with staff members about how to build awareness and raise funds for organizations that serve individuals with developmental disabilities.

During the fall, UCPLA launched an alliance with NEW Academy Canoga Park, a local elementary school, to help bring life to NEW Academy’s “One School One Book” campaign. Spearheaded by librarian Kelly Spector, “One School One Book” engaged the entire student body in reading Out of My Mind, an award-winning novel about a young girl with cerebral palsy. As part of this campaign, UCPLA’s clients visited NEW Academy several times throughout the course of the year to offer students the chance to meet individuals with varied abilities and learn the many ways in which our clients are living productive, fulfilling lives. NEW Academy students also gave back to UCPLA through a candy collection drive, which helped raise hundreds of dollars for our programs and services.

As spring approached, we took a moment to recognize the contributions of many of the dedicated students who work to support UCPLA. In March, we joined Senator Fran Pavley’s office in recognizing Ben Flyer, a student and water polo player at Agoura High School, who raised more than $3,500 to provide adaptive technology upgrades for participants in our Thousand Oaks Adult Day Program. We also celebrated with Seven Arrows Elementary School student Samantha Sinel, who chose to mark National Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month with Samantha’s Lemonade Stand for Awareness, which called attention to the needs of individuals with developmental disabilities and to foster conversation about related issues.

We rounded out the school year with a spring visit to students at Tulita Elementary School in Redondo Beach. Each year, Tulita Elementary students work with members of the Special Children’s League’s South Bay Committee on a Coin Collection Drive that benefits UCPLA’s subsidiary UCP Wheels for Humanity. This year’s drive raised $3,300 to benefit UCP Wheels for Humanity’s seating clinic in Cuba.
COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

CSUN Students Make Music for UCPLA
Starting in early 2014, UCPLA’s Chatsworth Campus became more musical, thanks to the time and enthusiasm of Chatsworth Administrator Rick MacDonough, who began working with Professor Gary Pratt of the California State University Northridge (CSUN) Jazz Studies Program. Together, Rick and Professor Pratt worked to bring CSUN musicians to the Chatsworth campus for a variety of events, including a New Orleans-Style Mardi Gras celebration, summer barbeques, an outdoor harvest festival and even an intimate “genre-bending” chamber music concert.

These concerts spanned genres from classical to jazz and rock and fostered an inclusive environment that introduced CSUN’s aspiring musicians to fans of varied abilities. UCPLA residents have come to enjoy the concerts and the chance to experience new types of music, and continue to submit requests for new musical styles, thereby allowing this alliance to grow.

Family Support and Engagement
Seven decades ago, UCPLA was founded by dedicated families to ensure that their children experienced a quality of life that enabled them to fulfill their potential. Today, the dedicated family members of our clients continue this tradition through their engagement with and generous support of our programs and the people who benefit from them. During Fiscal Year 2015, UCPLA’s Family Groups continued their track record of successful fundraising, awareness-building and celebratory events that brought smiles to the faces of our clients – their loved ones – and our staff and community.

Our Conejo Valley Family Group, for instance, kicked off the spring with a well-attended Pizza and Bingo event during which family members got the chance to enjoy each other’s company, and welcomed summer with a fun-filled summer picnic that brought together staff, clients, family and friends to enjoy the beautiful outdoor spaces at our Thousand Oaks Group Homes. The Chatsworth Family Organization also continued its long history of engagement with the Chatsworth campus’s group homes and day program, planning and executing many successful family events, including outdoor barbeques and a family movie night. The Chatsworth Family Organization also showed their support for staff with a holiday fund drive dedicated to brightening the holidays of the staff members who care for their loved ones.

We are grateful for the involvement these dedicated family members and Family Groups, who generously devote their time and resources to help UCPLA provide the best environment for their loved ones to live a life of independence. To learn more about how you can get involved with any of our family organizations, please visit www.ucpla.org.
Fiscal Year 2015 was another successful year for UCPLA’s fundraising events. Our two golf tournaments continued to produce strong results, we stepped it up again during Steptember, and we celebrated our 70th Anniversary with the inaugural Art of Care gala. Here’s a look back at our major events in FY2015, in chronological order.

16th Annual Devon Stern/UCPLA Golf Tournament
This family-run tournament returned for a 16th successful year, attracting a field full of golfers to the beautiful Camarillo Springs Golf Course in late July. The 16th Annual Devon Stern/UCPLA Golf Tournament included a putting contest, a million-dollar shootout and a hole-in-one contest that gave players the chance to win a Ford Mustang. The tournament raised $35,000, adding to its impressive overall total of more than $300,000 raised to support the Devon Stern Children’s Endowment, set up by Larry Stern to ensure that his granddaughter Devon (the tournament’s namesake) and other children with developmental disabilities can access the ongoing, dignified care they deserve.

Steptember
For the third year in a row, UCPLA staff, program participants, families and community members stepped it up in support of Steptember (formerly the World CP Challenge). Steptember is a four-week virtual competition that challenged contestants to get active by taking 10,000 steps per day while raising funds for UCPLA and awareness for individuals with developmental disabilities. By working together and stepping up, members of the UCPLA community helped to raise nearly $16,000 during Steptember.

Blank Canvas: Working Dimensions at the Washington Reid Gallery
In November 2014, the UCPLA Washington Reid Gallery hosted its third annual Blank Canvas community art event and fundraiser. The theme for the third annual show was “Working Dimensions”, a wide-reaching prompt that drew an energetic and dynamic response from UCPLA artists and community artists alike. The show, which featured more than 300 pieces of varying size and media, not only raised funds for the artistic endeavors of the Washington Reid Gallery and the adjoining Washington Place Adult Day Program but also opened a dialog among artists of all abilities.

Art of Care
In March, which is also National Developmental Disabilities Awareness Month, UCPLA culminated our 70th Anniversary celebration with the inaugural Art of Care gala at Hangar 8 in Santa Monica. This glamorous evening honored musician and advocate Brandon Mendenhall with the first Trailblazer Award, presented for Brandon’s ongoing commitment to raising awareness and inspiring individuals with developmental disabilities to pursue their dreams, and dedicated UCPLA administrator Creola Howard with the Heart and Soul Award for her nearly 50 years of service. This first-time event raised nearly $400,000 to support UCPLA’s programs and services and the dedicated caregivers who deliver them.

19th Annual UCP Golf Classic Tournament
UCPLA rounded out FY2015 with another in a long line of successful UCP Golf Classic Tournaments held at the Wilshire Country Club. Under the extraordinary leadership of Board Members Dr. Alan Kessler and Mrs. Ellen Kessler, the 19th Annual UCP Golf Classic raised almost $400,000 to support UCPLA’s 40 vital programs and therapeutic services, including UCPLA’s unique Respitality program, which helps provide free weekend respites and childcare to families of children with special needs. Under the Kesslers’ careful leadership, the UCP Golf Classic Tournament has become one of UCPLA’s largest fundraisers, raising almost $10 million during its nearly two-decade history.

UCP WORK, Inc.

Supported Employment Services
UCP WORK, Inc. provides a variety of services to children and adults with physical, developmental and mental-health disabilities throughout Santa Barbara, Ventura and San Luis Obispo counties.

Since its inception, UCP WORK, Inc. has worked hand-in-hand with its community to foster inclusion and increase opportunities for its program participants. The organization’s Supported Employment Services are a shining example of this work, providing program participants with custom job placement services that provide a capable and ready workforce to meet the unique needs of community employers. This program also provides on-site job coaches as needed to ensure positive placement for participants and to minimize turnover for employers.

Supported Employment Services benefit program participants and local businesses alike, providing participants with custom job matching and on-the-job training with skilled coaches, and offering businesses the chance to minimize business turnover expenses, evaluate employer needs, receive free ADA and sensitivity training and increase access to tax incentives.

Through Supported Employment Services, UCP WORK, Inc. program participants receive vital job skills in areas such as landscape and janitorial services, small parts assembly, clerical support and direct mail services, and merchandising.

In addition to the benefits to program participants and local employers, UCP WORK, Inc.’s Supported Employment Program offers community benefits as well, fostering acceptance and appreciation of community members with disabilities and ensuring a diverse workforce by providing reliable and skilled employees to local businesses.
Sundial Gallery
In 2014, UCP WORK, Inc. debuted its latest means of facilitating expression and independence: the Sundial Gallery and Studio, a beautiful creation and exhibition space near Santa Barbara’s eclectic art district referred to as the “Funk Zone”.

An extension of UCP WORK, Inc.'s Applied Abilities and Group Supported Employment program, the Sundial Gallery and Studio is a stand-alone business venture that boasts a spacious studio space where artists-in-residence can create works in many media, including oil paint, watercolors, charcoal, and clay. The space even has full-scale kiln that artists can use to fire pottery, tiles, sculpture, and other projects.

Staff and artists at the UCP WORK, Inc. Sundial Gallery spent much of Fiscal Year 2015 reaching out to their community to create connections with local artists, businesses and collectors. The connections built through this outreach led to the creation of 1st Thursdays, a collaboration in which Sundial artists’ work is available for viewing and purchase at Santa Barbara area establishments.

Successful 1st Thursday events were held during Fiscal Year 2015 at Armada Wine and Beer Merchant and as part of a holiday season art walk, during which patrons had the chance to experience a fun trolley ride to the Sundial Gallery.

We are pleased to congratulate the Sundial Gallery artists who are now exhibiting and selling their work throughout the Santa Barbara area!
UCP Wheels for Humanity

UCP Wheels for Humanity Partners with USAID for Expansion into El Salvador

There are an estimated 620,000 people with disabilities in El Salvador, and approximately 4% of the population has become disabled due to armed conflict and the gang-related violence that has plagued the country for the last 13 years. Despite the undeniable importance of properly fitted mobility equipment and life-enhancing physical therapy for these individuals, there are approximately 465,000 people in El Salvador who need a wheelchair but cannot access one, and as of 2005, El Salvador only had 118 trained physical therapists to serve this entire population.

To help address this daunting reality, UCP Wheels for Humanity (UCP Wheels), a subsidiary of United Cerebral Palsy of Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties (UCPLA), partnered with the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) to launch of a multifaceted effort to increase access to assistive technology and physical therapy for people with disabilities throughout the nation of El Salvador.

In collaboration with University of California Los Angeles Orthopaedic Hospital Center for Cerebral Palsy, during Fiscal Year 2015 UCP Wheels conducted intensive in-country therapy sessions designed to teach individuals and their families—who are often located miles outside of cities or large towns and do not have reliable transportation—skills that will help them increase mobility and promote health.

UCP Wheels for Humanity intends to expand on this successful model in order to offer more individuals in developing nations access to resources that promote mobility, empowerment, therapy and advocacy.

ABOUT

UCP WHEELS FOR HUMANITY

Founded in 1996, UCP Wheels for Humanity increases access to mobility for children, teens and adults with physical disabilities in developing countries. Our goal is to make strategic investments in communities that leverage existing capacities and empower local stakeholders.

UCP Wheels for Humanity joined the United Cerebral Palsy of Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties family in 2007, enabling us to extend our service reach on a global scale.

Over its history, UCP Wheels for Humanity has worked in 70 countries with the goal of making strategic investments in communities that leverage existing capacities and empower local stakeholders. Current project sites are selected on the basis of need and readiness for sustainable, permanent systems that will increase access to mobility long term.
UCP Wheels for Humanity's Project CLASP Expands Access to Vital Mobility Equipment

According to the United Nations, an estimated one billion people live with disabilities. Of this number, 80% live in developing nations, where access to services and mobility equipment such as wheelchairs is at best, limited and, at worst, nonexistent.

Throughout Fiscal Year 2015, UCP Wheels for Humanity worked with the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) to change this reality through a Project CLASP (Consolidating Logistics for Assistive Technology Supply & Provision), launched via a $2.2 million grant from USAID and JSI Research & Training Institute.

Project CLASP is a two-year collaboration designed to streamline the supply-chain for wheelchairs worldwide in order to supply over 15,000 wheelchairs to individuals in nations that include Indonesia, the Philippines, Georgia, Romania, Nicaragua, and El Salvador. Through this project, UCP Wheels is working with 10 in-country partners to improve the quality, selection and volume of wheelchairs provided to individuals with the greatest need in each nation.

By aligning with supply-chain management experts Jones Lang LaSalle, UCP Wheels also consolidated inventory from five wheelchair manufacturers into a single hub, making it possible for individuals and organizations to obtain a variety of locally appropriate wheelchairs from a centralized, convenient location. With an estimated 6% of disabled individuals in developing nations in need of but unable to acquire wheelchairs, Project CLASP is a vital step toward infrastructure improvement and development that could prove life-changing for millions of individuals.
At the end of Fiscal Year 2015, UCP Wheels for Humanity traveled to Havana, Cuba to deliver much-needed assistive devices to children with disabilities. Volunteer wheelchair specialists assisted in providing more than 150 properly fitted wheelchairs.

UCP Wheels staff and volunteers held a seating clinic for children at Escuela Solidaridad con Panama and delivered wheelchairs to the Frank Pais Orthopedic Hospital. UCP Wheels CEO Ronald S. Cohen and Director of Programs Katherine Selengia also met with the principal of the school, as well as representatives from the Ministry of Public Health and Ministry of Education. This trip represented UCP Wheels’ first visit to Cuba after the U.S. re-established diplomatic relations with the country earlier this year.

UCP Wheels for Humanity approached this seating clinic with the understanding that wheelchairs are the first step in moving underserved people with disabilities forward to new opportunities. The partnerships established by UCP Wheels with the school, hospital and Cuban government, as well as the dedication from staff and volunteers, were designed to make a lasting impact on the individuals who received the properly fitted chairs as well as their families and their communities.

The Cuba seating clinic is the most recent in a long tradition of seating clinics that have taken place throughout the world in locations including Thailand, Mexico, Ukraine, Jamaica, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Ethiopia.
